Py-romantic Exit

A fire on the third floor of the apartment building in which she lives forces prospective bride Isabel Hernandez, 20, (top), to walk down fire escape in Brooklyn, N.Y. yesterday before walking down aisle. She kept her bridegroom, Eugene Lafont, waiting nearly four hours at church. A bridesmaid precedes Miss Hernandez down fire escape.

Good Evening!

Long-gone deep-freeze.

We dunno. But maybe snow would help make these mornings a wee bit warmer.

Los Angeles captures the 1960 Democratic National Convention and, considering the West's emergence as the key in political fortunes, it makes sense.

Now, if the Republicans are wise they'll select Philadelphia without further hesitation. Don't think for a moment Pennsylvania won't be a pivotal state in the next grand sweepstakes.

Congress gets Ike's $77 billion budget which the President likes to consider balanced and which calls for increases in the gasoline tax and the postal rate.

Our guess is Congress won't like it since it would require some really down-to-the-bone economy in domestic spending. But the fact is a balanced budget is just as essential to our national defense and well-being as scatter-shot spending for spending's sake in the name of missile and military might.

Art Wall scrambled to final triumph in that $50,000 Crosby National Pro-Amateur tourney yesterday, but it's well he didn't have another couple of holes to go.

Talking about the pros getting the jitters? He had 'em as did Gene Littler who pulled a key shot into the ocean.

Big day in Harrisburg tomorrow as Mr. Lawrence becomes governor and as hundreds of Bucks Countians journey to the state capital to take part in the show.

Well sir, the test of Mr. Lawrence and the new administration as well as the new legislature will lie in performance during the next four years.

A man wearing a hearing aid entered a taxi.

"Must be tough to be deaf," sympathized the driver. "But nearly all of us have something the matter. Take me, for example, I can hardly see."

When you and your wife drive off in a brand new 1959 model, it is one of life's greatest moments of shared happiness—yours and the salesman's.

Careful does it on the highways.

Four Areas Plan Joint Dog Pound

Lower Bucks County dogs, who can be man's best friend when collared and some of a municipality's worst enemies when running loose, had better sit up and take notice.

The Regional Cooperation Committee is working out plans for a four-municipality operation of a joint dog pound. The dog pound of Falls Township, across from the municipal building on Yardley Ave., will probably be used for this purpose.

Milton Berkes, chairman of the committee, said the financial operation of the pound will probably start on a per capita basis and then be changed to a basis in relation to how much business each township and borough gives the dog catcher.

A sub committee of Edward Howley of Falls Township and Middletown Township Manager Charles Melchior was named to examine the steps necessary to create the joint dog catching service.

Melchior said a meeting would be held Friday in an attempt to frame the wording for the ordinance.

He said records of activity will be held and then the financial burdens of the project re-evaluated in the light of this material.

Melchior said that two persons

Light Snow Forecast For Area Tonight

Mean January weather grabbed Lower Bucks today with biting cold, strong winds and a light snow forecast for tonight.

The snow is not expected to be much of a fall but some dangerous conditions may result on highways as the thermometer falls. Tonight's low will be in the high teens.

This morning's low was a wintry 14 degrees at 7 a.m. Yesterday's low was 13 at 6 a.m.

GAS TAX, POSTAL RATE HIKES PROPOSED BY IKE IN BUDGET

Five-Cent Stamp Seen For Letters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today sent Congress a precariously balanced budget of $77,030,000,000 demanding higher federal gasoline taxes and a new hike in postal rates.

He requested an increase in gasoline taxes from 3 cents to 4½ cents a gallon and a 350 million dollar boost in postal charges, apparently by instituting a five-cent stamp for some letters.

These proposals, combined with higher taxes on aviation fuel and some other tax revisions, would bring in $1,356,000,000 of new revenue in fiscal year 1960, which starts this July.

No tax cuts were proposed. On the contrary, there was a mild threat of more general tax increases, if the President's goal of achieving a 70 million dollar surplus in the coming year should fade and the government again goes into the red. The current year's "recession-induced" deficit was estimated at $12,900,000,000.

The Democrats accused Eisenhower of submitting a "political budget" which has little chance of being balanced. Republicans stood solidly behind the President's proposals.

Warns of Tax Hike Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson told reporters it "might prove to be necessary" to consider a general tax hike if the Democratic Congress should fail to give Eisenhower the legislative support he needs to balance the budget, and if business is good.

Eisenhower proposed to cut spending by nearly $3,900,000,000 below this year's figure. He held the defense budget at virtually the same level.

Charges Politics Chairman Clarence E. Cannon (D-Mo.) of the powerful House Appropriations Committee echoed Rayburn's words. He said, "This budget is so precarious as to be wholly impractical." Eisenhower, he said, "does not have the revenue to do what he proposes."

"The Democrats in control of Congress will be blamed by the President if there is a deficit," he charged. "This is a political budget based on contingencies which no one expects to materialize."

The appropriations chairman said that while Eisenhower has "lambasted" the Democrats for spending too much money, the new budget actually calls for higher outlays in many areas.

Chairman George Mahon (D-Tex.) of the House Defense Appropriations Committee said the budget was "a political budget."

Johannsen To Head Y.M.C.A. Campaign

K. L. Johannsen, general superintendent of the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corporation, has been named general chairman of the Lower Bucks County Y.M.C.A. Building Fund Campaign. David Landreth, Y.M.C.A. president announced today.

In accepting the chairmanship, Johannsen said, "I am certainly honored in being selected to head this worthwhile drive. For some time we have needed a Y.M.C.A. in the Lower Bucks community and in the coming years it will benefit the area more than anything I can think of."

Landreth stated that several division campaign chairmen soon will be named to assist Johannsen with his responsibilities.

The Building Fund Campaign is a drive to raise funds for a modern $550,000 Y.M.C.A. in Fairless Hills.

Castro Invites U.S. Critics To Come See For Themselves

HAVANA (UPI)—Fidel Castro today invited his foremost critics in the U.S. Congress to fly to Havana Wednesday with 350 foreign newsmen in "operation truth" to see for themselves the inside story of revolutionary justice.

Those invited included chairmen of key committees in the House and Senate and the more vocal critics who have called for a U.N. investigation of mass killings, a trade and tourist embargo and a sharp cut in sugar import quotas to halt the executions.

They were Sens. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) who asked he United States to use its "very best offices" to halt the executions; Theodore Green (D-R.I.) chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) chairman of the Latin American subcommittee; Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), assistant Democratic leader in the Senate, and Homer Capehart (R-Ind.), Hopes To Still Criticism The representatives invited were Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.); Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) who asked a UN investigation; Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.); Victor L. Anfuso (D-N.Y.), who called for a sugar import curb; and Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who called for a trade and tourist embargo.

Castro issued the invitation in hopes of stilling growing criticism in the United States against the

Congressmen Reject Castro's Invitation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Critical congressmen today partly rejected Fidel Castro's invitation that they fly to Cuba this week to see for themselves the operations of revolutionary justice under his regime. "The fellow is getting more ridiculous all the time," declared Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.), one of those invited.

Two Escaped Prisoners Sought For 3 Bensalem Burglaries

A general alarm is out for two escapees from a New Hampshire prison believed to be responsible for three Bensalem Township burglaries and a half a dozen more in Philadelphia's Main Line.

Bensalem Township Police Chief William F. Riemp said the burglars hit the homes of Leon Janiche, 435 Locust Ave., Torresdale, $350 in jewelry and money last Dec. 23; Albert Hiller 1034 Cedar Ave., Torresdale, $800, last Dec. 27 and James Cairns, 44 Walnut Ave., Torresdale, $500 on Jan. 9.

Goods stolen from these homes was picked up at the home of a girl friend of one of the suspects.

The suspects were identified by police as Anthony Irwing, 24, a former Philadelphia, and Donald G. Provencher, Manchester, N.H.

The suspects were also suspected as being the ones who fired at a Philadelphia police captain when he surprised them during a burglary attempt Jan. 11. The officer was not injured and the suspects escaped.

Victims of the burglaries identified their goods at a police office in Philadelphia.

The suspects, escaped Dec. 12 from Manchester, N. H. prison. Police said the two escapees may be involved with six burglaries in Lower Merion committed from four to nine p.m. giving them the name of the "dinner hour bandits."

More than 2,500 members of Teamsters Local 107,929 and 470 reported for work at midnight but refused to man their trucks pending the outcome of all night negotiations between officials of the Teamsters union and Food Employers Labor Relations, Inc., which represented most of the city's wholesale and retail food distributors.

Three other Teamsters locals in Chester and Norristown, Pa., and Camden, N. J., were not involved but they were expected to agree to contracts on the pattern set here.

Both sides expressed "complete satisfaction" after reaching the agreement shortly after 5 A.M.

The contract provides a 15 cents hourly wage increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, an additional five cents hourly next Jan. 1, and a 10 cents hourly boost on Jan. 1, 1961. The contract also includes a fourth week vacation after 20 years service next year, a $1 weekly boost in health and welfare contributions, effective next Jan. 1, and 12½ cents hourly night differentials for loaders.

$6,000 Stolen From Safe At Dairy

A smooth-operating safe cracked made off with $6,000 from a distribution office of the Martin Century Dairy Farms, on the Old Lincoln Highway, Middletown Township, over the weekend.

Middletown Township police are investigating the safe job and two other burglaries in which thieves broke into two homes in the Red Rose Gate section of Levittown and stole at least $400.

The dairy farm burglary was discovered at 12:05 a.m. today by tractor-trailer driver, Russell Morgan, Norristown, R.D. 3, who drove to the local office from the Martin Farms in Lansdale.

Cpl. Karl Kritzberger, Middletown police, said the safe was opened by a man who evidently knew what he was doing and what he was after.

Valley Sports Arena May Locate In Falls

An unconfirmed report has Fallsington in and Bristol out as the location for the Delaware Valley Arena.

For many months, officials of the arena have been negotiating to build the sports arena in Bristol on property adjacent to the Mill St. parking lot.

It appears now, informed sources said, that the arena will be built in Falls Township on the Foster tract, about 80 acres of property. This is the land on which the Falls Township supervisors voted a proposal by Trenton builder Roy Riker to construct a landfill.

Permission was later granted to Riker to build the landfill at Old Route 13 and Tyburn Road. Bristol officials report that the Pennsylvania Utilities Commission held them up for three months which forced the arena officials to seek another site for the arena.

Officials of the arena have been in contact with Riker and with the Falls Township Board of Supervisors. Many of the residents in Fallsington, who opposed the landfill site, have been sounded out and have expressed approval of the tract for this purpose.

The Foster tract is located at Lower Morrisville Road and Route 1, Falls Township.

Jewish Center Gets $275,000 In Pledges

The New Building Fund Drive of the Levittown Jewish Center, kicked-off with a wave of enthusiasm at a gigantic rally last night as speaker after speaker described the need for the new structure and the congregation's plans for meeting the need.

Jamming the auditorium, the congregants heard Harry Bluestein announce that pledges in advance of the public opening of the campaign totaled $275,825 from only 159 families and organizations.

Under gavel of Mickey Daner, general chairman of the campaign, leaders of the drive and congregation presented a well-rounded picture of the Levittown Jewish Center story.

History Of Center
After a welcoming address by Melvin Stern, president of the congregation, the evening started with a history of the Center recounted by Ester Zweig, co-chairman of the Advance Gifts Committee.

The need for new facilities was described by Fred Schwartz, co-chairman Advance Gifts Committee. The women's point of view was presented by Mrs. Janet Rudolph, head of the Women's Division, while the attitude of the teenagers was described by Jill Reizburg, teen-age daughter of Herman Reizburg, vice-president of the congregation.

Don Witkin, chairman of the Building Committee, described the plans for meeting this need. "We are building now for the future," said Mr. Witkin. "We have planned so that these new facilities will satisfy our needs for a long time to come."

The plan of the campaign to raise $400,000 was presented by Carl Baker, General Solicitation Committee co-chairman, and its memorial and Honorary aspects outlined by Andrew Flager, chairman of the Challenge Gifts Committee.

Alan Corson, general co-chairman of the campaign spoke on sacrificial giving.

Rabbi Fierwerker addressed the group on the spiritual significance of the entire undertaking. "We must realize the real significance of this project if we are to benefit from its success," said the Rabbi.

The Rev. Daniel B. Stevick, Vicar of All Saint's Episcopal Church of Fallsington was guest speaker of the evening.

The highlight of the evening was the announcement by Mrs. Roz Kleiman, of the Sisterhood's pledge of $70,000. This was followed by Mike Schwartz speaking for the Men's Club pledging $33,000 toward the effort. An additional $200 was pledged by the youth group.

Rabbi Herbert I. Wilner, spiritual leader of neighboring Temple Shalom, delivered the invocation and Rabbi William Fierwerker led in the benediction.

Gas Tax, Postal Rate Hike Proposed By Ike In Budget

same level as this year — nearly 41 billion dollars — and ordered big reductions in outlays for agriculture, foreign aid and housing.

Again and again in his budget message he called for state and local governments to shoulder more of the costs of services and lessen the burden on Washington, and for more private lending functions to be put in private hands.

His chances of keeping the budget balanced appeared slim, however, on the basis of Democratic attitudes in Congress. For example, if Congress failed to approve the postal rate hike alone, it would throw finances into the red.

Paint Bright Pictures

Both Eisenhower and Secretary Anderson painted bright pictures of the economic outlook.

"We are now entering a period of national prosperity and high employment," the President said. Anderson said the revenue estimate of $77,100,000,000 for the coming fiscal year was based on the assumption that personal income would climb from $53,500,000,000 in calendar 1958 to 374 billion dollars this year, and that corporate profits would rise from $36,500,000,000 to 47 billion dollars.

On this basis, government income was budgeted to rise $9,100,000,000 over this year, while spending was cut.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans told newsmen the administration deliberately held down the introduction of new programs in what the President has called "a breather in expansion."

Here is a comparison of the President's budget for fiscal 1960, compared with estimates for the current year:

Delaware Dredging Included In Budget

Appropriations amounting to $738,500 for dredging and flood control along the Delaware River, from Trenton to Philadelphia, are included in President Eisenhower's budget presented to Congress today.

The appropriations include $15,500 to spent on the New Jersey side of the river and $5,000 to be spent to the Pennsylvania side of the river.

Most of the funds are expected to be used in plans to create a 40-foot deep channel in the river.

one source made an educated guess that space spending of all types would hit three-quarters of a billion dollars. His space program envisioned projects ranging from space weather stations to manned flight to the planets.

Eisenhower hiked prospective outlays for the Atomic Energy Commission, too, but budgeted nothing for nuclear weapons tests for the year starting next July 1 in hopes a ban on testing will be agreed upon. This country offered to suspend such tests for a year starting last Oct. 31.

He outlined a 10 per cent cut in foreign aid, from an anticipated $3,881,000,000 this year to $3,498,000,000 next. Biggest reduction was a 462 million dollar drop in military assistance, partly offset by increases elsewhere.

Steps On Toes
Placing heavy emphasis on halting or tapering off what some regard as federal handouts, Eisenhower stepped on many toes by — Proposing to slash the farm budget from an estimated $7,340,000,000 this year to $6,450,000,000 and announcing he will try to revamp the "largely outmoded" price support system.

appropriations Subcommittee sounded the anticipated Democratic call for more defense spending.

He said "There is every likelihood the 1960 defense budget will be found wanting" unless the $40,945,000,000 military outlay asked by Eisenhower is "channeled into the most significant area of defense."

Hungry Thieves Hit Levittown Home
Thieves broke into the home of William Otto, 17 Timothy Lane, Thornridge, Levittown, yesterday morning and took some meat from a refrigerator and possibly other things.

Chief Franklin Kirby, Falls Township police, said the family was away until early yesterday morning when the burglary was discovered. Police said the amount of goods or money stolen would not be known until tomorrow after they check their belongings.

Architect Named Head Of Twp. Planners
Ronald Turner, Philadelphia architect who lives at 14 Valley Road, Violetwood, Levittown, has been named chairman of the Bristol Township Planning Commission.

Warren Kilpatrick, of Newportville, was elected secretary at a recent organizational meeting of the commission.

Turner succeeds R. Ralph Kasman who served several years as chairman and is still a member of the commission. Kasman decided not to run again for chairman. Kilpatrick replaces Otto Kohler as secretary. Kohler also served several years and decided not to run again.

Hot Meeting Seen Tonight In Tullytown

The political power of Peter A. Santoro, a veteran of more than one Tullytown Borough political tussle, may be threatened at tonight's meeting of Tullytown Borough Council.

Informed sources indicate an attempt will be made to unseat Santoro from his post on the borough's Civil Service Commission.

Santoro is a former Tullytown Borough Council president. He resigned from that post over a controversy involving his appointment to the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority.

Santoro later resigned from the authority but his wife was then appointed to the same post.

Within the last year, Santoro has been involved in numerous political skirmishes with his own Democratic party and club in Tullytown. Santoro asserts that he represents the county organization in Tullytown.

Another hot topic at tonight's meeting may be a reported proposal to purchase a Levittown home for use as a borough hall. Tullytown Borough Council now meets on the second floor of Tullytown Fire Hall. Tonight's meeting is set for 8 p.m.

surrounding the office to get onto the Martin property.

Police said the thief then tried open a rear door on the building and went to work on the safe. The burglar apparently wasted no time and broke open the safe by cracking the combination lock.

The money, estimated at $6,000, was in cash and checks. It represented weekend receipts for the local branch of the dairy.

Patrolman Roger Thorsen assisted Capt. Kritzberger in the investigation. Police said no one had been in the office from Saturday night until the burglary was discovered early this morning.

Dr. Harold L. Bess, 2 Red Rose Gate, Levittown, was in Philadelphia on Saturday night where his wife was delivering a baby daughter, when thieves broke into and ransacked his home.

As far as police have been able to determine, nothing was stolen at the Bess home. The break-in took place some time between 2 p.m. and 10 p.m. Saturday.

Steal $400

The thieves were more successful at the nearby home of Joseph Steinback, 2 Rain Lilly Road, Red Rose Gate, where they escaped with $400.

Middletown police said the burglary happened between 8 p.m. Saturday and 1 a.m. Sunday.

The thieves ransacked the entire house and took approximately $360 from the Steinback's bedroom and another $40 from a bedroom used by Steinback's sister.

Police believe both thefts were the work of the same burglars. In both instances, entry was gained by prying open a door near the garages of the houses.

Besides, Cpl. Kritzberger, the burglaries are being investigated by Patrolmen Anthony Fergione and Frank McKenna.

Twp. GOP To Meet On Hartley Quitting
Ike Adams vice chairman of the Bristol Township Republican Policy Committee called a special meeting of the group for tonight to prevent the resignation of Vincent Hartley as chairman.

The meeting will be held in the Valley Inn Croydon.

Hartley had reported earlier that he intended to resign as chairman as well as precinct committeeman and as a member of the county executive committee.

Hartley cited "behind the scenes factionalism" as the reason for his resignation.

In calling the special meeting, Adams said he feels "Hartley has the overwhelming support of the Policy Committee and the committee people."

The vice chairman said he will call for a vote of confidence for Hartley.

Virginia Segregation Laws Struck Down

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Federal and state courts struck down Virginia segregation laws today in a double-barreled attack that brought a new era of crisis over the state's "massive resistance" stand against public school integration.

Emergency action was expected soon, possibly including a special session of the general assembly to deal with the situation. The

Stolen Car Driven 200 Miles, Abandoned
A Philadelphia woman's car was stolen from the parking lot near the Towne Theatre, Levittown, and driven 200 miles before it was abandoned in Tullytown early Sunday.

Patrolmen Ben Parto and Carl Anderson, Tullytown Police, discovered the missing car 8:15 a.m. Sunday morning. The vehicle was abandoned on 70 Kentucky Lane, Kenwood, Levittown.

The car was taken from the parking lot between 9 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. Saturday night. The car's owner, Elinore Nissman, 6211 N. 16th St., Philadelphia, reported the theft to police.

Police said the car was not damaged but had been driven 200 miles during the night.

Bristol Driver Knocks Down 5 Guard Rails

A Bristol man lost control of his car Saturday morning on Route 13 and Tyburn Road and knocked down five guard rails and a Levittown-Fairless Hills road sign.

Richard D. Gratz, 29, of 5726 Norton Ave., was uninjured after the accident, police reported. His car was totally destroyed in the crash, police said.

Patrolman Ed Brown and Robert Dapp, Falls Township Police, investigated the accident.

3rd District Firemen Conduct Annual Event

About 100 persons attended the second annual dinner dance of the Third District Fire Company, Bristol Township, Saturday. The dinner-dance was held in the Newportville Fire house.

Newly elected officers of the fire company and ladies auxiliary were introduced and gifts presented to the outgoing members.

The guests included Rev. David Collella, of St. Ann's Catholic Church, Bristol, and Rev. and Mrs. Anthony Marinacci, of Bristol Penecostal Church.

Fred K. Hibbs, president of the township fire chiefs association, president of the township fire board and president of the Edgely Fire Company, was also a guest.

The Third District firemen made note of the service rendered by two township Commissioners, Eugene G. Kehoe and James Monte.

Middletown Planners, School Board To Meet

Members of the Middletown Township Planning Commission will attend tonight's meeting of the Middletown Township School Board 8 o'clock at Neshaminy High School, near Langhorne.

The planning board and school board members will discuss attempts to coordinate long range township and school development.

rules were in the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals in Richmond and in a federal court at Norfolk.

The state court ruled first—denying a petition by the attorney general to force the comptroller general to use a law granting tuition money for private instruction to pupils thrown out of public schools by integration closings.

Hard on the heels of the state action, a three-judge federal panel at Norfolk declared unconstitutional one of the state's "massive resistance" laws used to close some schools in the port city.

Youth Loses 90 MPH Chase

The race is not always to the swift, a 14-year-old Bensalem Township boy found out Saturday, when he drove 90 miles an hour along the highway and ran less than that across the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

He was caught by a slower but smarter policeman. The episode began when the boy "borrowed" his father's car and went "for a spin." He picked up three riders, all teenagers, and started to show them how fast he could move.

When the car hit 90, the riders became a little panicky and the other motorists became a little suspicious and notified police.

Police Close In
At Galloway and Hulmeville Road, one of the riders jumped out as the police car driven by Patrolman Fred Chubb closed in. The Bucks County Rescue Squad was called and treated the boy for an injured ankle.

Meanwhile, the wild riding 14-year-old continued on his merry way. The other two boys, police said, were very unwilling companions.

Bensalem Township Police Chief William Riempp said the boy lost control of the car on Bristol Road, opposite the Pennsylvania Turnpike and crashed into a retaining wall.

Give Chase
The passengers stayed in the car but the young driver jumped out, vaulted the turnpike fence and started to flee across the turnpike. Chubb and Patrolmen Alexander Mocknatch and Joseph Ballagher, who had joined the flight, gave chase.

The boy cut in and out of the weaving turnpike traffic, nearly forcing several cars off the road as he ran against the traffic. After a chase of about an eight of a mile, the boy was collared by Patrolmen Chubb.

Chief Riempp said this isn't the first time an officer captured a fleeing youngster on foot but he wouldn't tell how it was done. "I even did it myself a couple of times," the burly police chief said proudly.

Answer Says Red Abuses Hospitality

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said today the State Department is conducting a "cold war" that affects world trade. The department immediately accused him of abusing U.S. hospitality by making "fatuous" remarks about the government.

The exchange, the most unfriendly of Mikoyan's visit to this country, came after the No. 2 Soviet leader met one hour and 45 minutes with C. Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state for economic affairs.

"Affects Trade"
Mikoyan told newsmen "the cold war in the State Department is still going on and it affects foreign trade." His talks with Dillon were aimed at expanding U.S.-Soviet trade.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White sharply criticized Mikoyan's statement.

Cordially Received
"This allegation is fatuous on the face of it, particularly when it comes at the close of a tour of this country where this man has been very cordially received by all classes of American citizens," White said.

Mikoyan said there were "no negotiations" during this morning's meeting but "it is apparent that the State Departments not in a position to renounce the discriminatory regulations which are in the way of the export of more Soviet goods to the United States."

Addresses Newsmen
He said that just to get back to the "old good normal trade relations" between the two countries, it would be necessary for the United States to remove present tariff restrictions on the import of Russian furs and crab meat.

"We hope the cold war will end and trade will expand," he said. After his meeting with Dillon, Mikoyan went to the National Press Club to address a lunch meeting of newsmen. Following that he was to carry his trade campaign one step further by conferring with Commerce Secretary Lewis L. Strauss.

The dog catcher service, if operated on this combined municipal basis, will probably be the first of its kind anywhere in the state.

Other joint projects completed by the committee include the snow removal plan, the grass cutting plan, and the joint zoning map. Tullytown and Bristol Township as well as Falls and Middletown Township are in the regional committee.

The missile center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., will determine if a machine can be built to reach the moon. The Naval Aviation Acceleration Laboratory may determine if a man can be built to make the trip. A Levittowner working at the Naval lab at Willow Grove may be making key contributions to this study.

R. Flanagan Gray, 85 Cherry Lane, Crabtree, who last summer was subjected to the highest weight of gravity ever known to man, has increased the tempo. In the Navy's centrifuge machine, the civilian research psychologist has been exposed to a measure of 31 which is 31 times the normal weight of gravity.

The Hatboro Junior Chamber of Commerce saw fit to give him an award and the Navy saw fit to build a new centrifuge so he can go higher, theoretically that is.

It's nothing unusual when cigars are passed out for a new baby. So when I saw a pack of cigars on my desk one afternoon, I hardly bent an eyebrow. Closer inspection and recognition of the name of the giver brought not only a raised eyebrow, but a hearty chuckle as well. Bridget wished to announce that she and her eight pups were doing well. The basset hound is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Reginald B. Olson of Tullytown. He is Burgess of Tullytown but Bridget and pups are boss at home.

There are youngsters who doubt the existence of Santa Claus. But most of them are just a little too wise to question St. Nick's reality around the 25th of December.

But one little girl, Debbie MacDowell, not only believes in Santa but thinks he works all year round. She thanked Santa for the toys she got for Christmas and for the basketball. And she added, "Thank you for the pajamas I got today."

Morrisville Couple Raises 3 Football Players, Nurse

'All America' Family Busy With Sports

By TONY PATTERSON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Hart, 229 Philadelphia Ave., Morrisville are probably the only couple in the world to raise three football players and a nurse just in case.

"I've been interested in football since I came to this country when I was 12," commented Mr. Hart, who is an employee of Rohm & Haas in Bristol.

In Copenhagen, Denmark, where I was born soccer was the main sport emphasized in school," said Mr. Hart, "but when I came to this country I took a big interest in football."

633 Pounds Total
The three boys in the family, Lew, Bob, and Dick have all played football on the Morrisville High School team, he said. The "boys" Mr. Hart referred to presently comprise a total of 633 pounds, over a quarter of a ton of bone and muscle.

The girl in the family, Loretta, 23, now Mrs. Keith Whiteside, of Trenton also attended Morrisville High School where she graduated in 1953. In that year she was voted the "Outstanding Senior of the Year." She also received a trophy for outstanding achievement in sports, and was captain of the high school cheerleaders.

"You have to get used to the idea of having so many athletes around you," said Loretta, "and learn to watch sports on TV and adopt an interest in it."

She admits that with her she had to accept it, "but it's nice to have brothers and a husband who take such an active interest in sports."

Character Building
"I feel that sports definitely builds a person's character," she added.

In speaking of the boys and their sports achievements Loretta excused herself for talking so much remarking that, "you have to be careful or everyone will think you're bragging."

Mrs. Hart added that, "when the boys were young, they would just about make me a nervous wreck with all their weight-lifting, but it was what they liked so I didn't mind."

Football Clinic
"Lew and Bob are away at college now but we expect Lew home in a few weeks to take part in the football clinic at Pennsbury High School," commented Mr. Hart.

Lew, 21, is presently a senior at Bucknell and captain of the football team there. When he arrives home he will assist New York Giant football star, Kyle Rote in the football clinic to be staged from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Jan. 24.

"Lew hurt his knee in the first game of the last football season," said Mrs. Hart. "He's supposed to have a specialist look at it sometime in the near future."

Bob, 18 years old, is presently a freshman at Penn State majoring in Physical Education and is first-string fullback on the freshman football team, stated Mrs. Hart.

"All of our children have received scholarships to attend college," commented Mr. Hart.

Loretta who attended Mercer Hospital school of Nursing is now working at the hospital as assistant instructor in nurse training. She also received a scholarship.

More Scouting
"When a football scout offered to come to Morrisville and look over Bob on the football field, he saw Dick and told him that if he kept up the good work, next year he might be scouted also," said Mr. Hart.

"Before Bob settled on Penn State as his choice of college we had football scouts up here to look him over from North and others," said Mrs. Hart.

Bob was chosen as National High School All-American and all-state player in 1957, added Mr. Hart.

"I guess I'm the only one in the family who hasn't been too active in sports," commented Mrs. Hart.

Co-coaches, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Hart not too active in football themselves, have certainly raised a fine "team" as many will agree.
